TEMPLESTOWE CEMETERY

A PEACEFUL PLACE

Templestowe Cemetery is situated on 4.2 hectares of land set amongst lawns and beautiful gardens on the hillside slopes with mountain views. Originally Templestowe was a rural area with a small farming population; the principle crop was to become fruit growing. The ground occupied by the cemetery was marked out as a “reserve” on the subdivision map of the Parish of Bulleen in the 1800’s.

The early settlers in the Templestowe area of the 1840’s had to transport their deceased residents to the Melbourne Cemetery which was then situated (approximately) where the Queen Victoria Market is now located. In 1857 a committee was formed for the purpose of establishing a local cemetery and a letter written by Committee Chairman, Mr William Malcolm to the Board of Land and Works resulted in the cemetery being established in 1858.

Since that time Templestowe Cemetery has continued to serve the Templestowe community for over 150 years, providing a place of rest that is renowned for its beauty and peaceful surroundings. Services and facilities available at Templestowe Cemetery include cremated remains memorials, funeral venues and function facilities.
